WILL NOT BE TAKEN ALIVE

He Shot Fred Shortleaves at Alstead,
N. H., Last Night and, Locked in His Room, Defied Sheriff and 100 Men.

Alstead, N. H., Oct. 25.—George Ford, who shot Fred Shortleaves during an argument at the Hotel Alstead veranda, here last evening, and then barricaded himself in his room on the top floor of the hotel, defying the sheriff and a posse of hundred men all night, escaped to the woods at six this morning, by jumping thirty feet to the ground, while the guard under his window was at breakfast. The sheriff and posse are in pursuit. Ford has declared he will not be taken alive, and bloodshed is feared.

Ford and Shortleaves met upon the hotel piazza shortly after 6 o'clock and had a few words, after which Shortleaves turned and left him. As he did so, Ford pulled a revolver and shot him in the back just below the collar bone, the bullet narrowly missing vital parts. Shortleaves was immediately taken to his home in Langdon, where he now lies in a critical condition.

After the shooting Ford rushed to his room on the top floor, armed himself, closed and locked the door.

Sheriff Perry tried to persuade the man to give himself up, but neither threats nor coaxing were of avail, so he kicked in the door of the room and was greeted with a fusillade of shots. Fortunately none struck him. Ford then jumped up, closed the door, and barricaded it with furniture and is determined to hold his fort against any one entering.

Shortly before midnight Sheriff Perry, followed by over 100 citizens, and with all kinds of weapons from a 25-calibre revolver to a double barreled shotgun, started for Ford's room on the top floor of the hotel. Sheriff Perry mounted the stairs with resolute steps, but his followers were willing that the other man should be first. Reaching the room, Perry pounded on the door and received no reply.

Shortly before this all the ammonia that could be found in Alstead had been poured into Ford's room in the hope that the fumes would overcome him. The sheriff pounded on the door again and called upon Ford to surrender or he would break the door down.

Ford spoke in a calm voice and said: "Oh, don't do that; I'll open it for you." "Will you give up?" said the sheriff. Ford replied: "No, never. I will fight to the death. I will never be taken alive. If you take me you will take my dead body."

Then he cried in a loud voice: "Wouldn't you shoot a man who had insulted you?" "No," said Sheriff Perry, and then Ford yelled out again: "Well, I would, and if you come in here I'll plug you." "I'll die fighting."

DRUNKEN MAN AND REVOLVER.

Arrested in Crowd at Birmingham, Ala., Yesterday.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt concluded a strenuous day in Alabama last night by a two hours' visit to Birmingham, where his reception was hearty and soul-stirring.

The day was not marked by any special incident save at Birmingham, where an intoxicated man in his excitement dropped a pistol from his pocket on the pavement. The man was arrested.

On the President's arrival here Mayor Ward delivered an address of welcome and the party entered carriages and began to march to Capitol Park. The streets were beautifully decorated and the ovation to the President was continuous. He stood in his carriage the whole way acknowledging the outbursts of enthusiasm.

St. Petersburg Tied Up.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—The tie-up now seems complete, as the employees of all the railways have joined the strike. No trains are now running into or from St. Petersburg. The strike is rapidly spreading among industrial concerns and threatens to become general.

Advices from Warsaw by phone say that the ferment caused by the strike is increasing there. Employees of all the railways except the Vienna line, have joined the strike. A number of Russian railway men are being scattered about the city, urging people and strikers to attempt a revolution. The agitation is growing so bold that troops have been called out, to hold the streets against strikers and to prevent demonstration.

Sad Case of Neglect of Child.

Winooski, Oct. 25.—A sad case of neglect which resulted in the death of a child was revealed Monday at midnight when Dr. Hill was called upon to visit Frederick, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bylow of upper Main street. The child was in the last stages of diphtheria and was practically beyond medical aid. Everything was done to save the boy but he died in about an hour. The funeral was held yesterday, interment being made in the cemetery near the Fanny Allen hospital. It seems the child had been ill for about five days, but the parents thought the malady nothing serious and did not call a physician. Health Officer Burdick was notified of the case and immediately placed the house in quarantine.

Mrs. E. W. Foster of St. Albans Has Disappeared

WRITES NOTE TO HUSBAND

Tells Him Not to Look for Her, as He Will Not Find Her—Was Last Seen Yesterday Afternoon.

St. Albans, Oct. 25.—Mrs. E. W. Foster has disappeared from home, and has left no clue to her whereabouts. The woman came to this city from her home at Green's Corners yesterday afternoon to take a singing lesson. After taking the lesson she went to the home of her mother, Mrs. E. J. Clark, leaving there ostensibly to return to her home by the six o'clock train. She did not go home, and Mr. Foster started a search for her. No trace was secured last night, but this morning the husband got a note from the woman saying: "There will be no use to look for me, for you won't find me."

Mrs. Foster has two twin children, little girls eleven years of age. There is no reason known to account for her strange action. She has been in her usual health.

SEARCH FOR REMAINS OF GEN. IRA ALLEN

A Philadelphia Cemetery, About to Be Destroyed, Will Be Gone Over in Attempt to Find the Burial Place.

St. Johnsbury, Oct. 25.—The search for the remains of General Ira Allen, one of Vermont's founders, is to be resumed because of the intention to destroy the Free Quaker cemetery in Philadelphia, where the remains are supposed to lie. Previous to this time an effort had been made to locate the last resting place of General Allen. Gov. Bell has now chosen a committee to cooperate with a committee from Pennsylvania in the search. The Vermont committee is composed of the following: G. C. Benedict of Burlington; W. H. Crockett of St. Albans and F. T. Alfred of Newport.

PARDONED FOR ANOTHER TRIAL.

New York State Man Goes Through a Peculiar Legal Action.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—To enable the Connecticut authorities to try for murder a convict who has just begun an eight years' term at Auburn prison for another crime, Governor Higgins yesterday granted a full pardon to Charles Bassett. At the same time, however, he complied with the request of the governor of Connecticut for a requisition and the minute Bassett steps out of prison he will be seized and taken to New Haven for trial.

Bassett, who is a young man, and whose name is supposed to be in Brooklyn, was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment last March for grand larceny and burglary. Just before this time, on February 27, Thomas Lockwood, an aged farmer, had been robbed and brutally murdered at his home in Westbury, Conn. Two men were arrested charged with the crime, and recently they made a confession before the grand jury which implicates Bassett. Believing that Bassett's conviction is sure, the Connecticut authorities have not hesitated to ask for his pardon and take the chance of his escaping punishment for the more serious charge.

Such a method as this is almost without precedent, although not unknown.

Deavitt, J. E. Cushman, F. P. Southgate and R. A. Lawrence.

John W. Gordon of Barre yesterday afternoon introduced a resolution which was unanimously adopted, extending the sympathy of the association to Judge Henry E. Start in his continued illness and recommending to him that he hold his commission as judge during a vacation in the hopes that his valuable services may yet be restored to the state.

Although none of the speakers committed themselves to any definite plan, the general trend of the remarks was to the effect that two courts, a supreme court and a trial court, would be the easiest way out of the difficulty that now confronts the court business of the state.

On motion of Col. A. A. Hall it was voted that the incoming president of the association, when he is elected today, shall appoint a committee of seven members to thoroughly look into the situation in all its bearings. This committee is to report to a special meeting of the bar association to be held the first day of the next May term of supreme court.

President W. W. Stickney, in his annual report, urged a revision of the state constitution and suggested the appointing of a committee to map out the work. President Stickney acted as toastmaster at the banquet, at which the following was the toast list: "The State," Attorney General C. C. Fitts of Brattleboro; "The Bar," C. S. Palmer of Burlington; "The Law, Its Revisers and Revisions," Hale K. Darling of Chelsea; "The Young Lawyer's Ideal," Geo. M. Hogan of St. Albans; "The Bar of Montpelier," E. T. NEW THEATRE OPENED.

Hale's Playhouse, Managed by LaPoint, Presented "Why Girls Leave Home."

Hale's theatre, a new playhouse made out of the dancing pavilion on Pearl street, was opened to the public last evening with a performance of "Why Girls Leave Home," with a fair attendance. This theatre has literally sprung up in the night. Although plans were drawn some time ago, the work of remodeling was not started until this week. At midnight Sunday night a gang of workmen was set at work. A stage had to be built, scenery installed, wiring done and seats placed. These and many other things had to be finished in two days, and it looked like an impossibility. But thirty men were put to work yesterday, and the last nail was driven at about the same time the curtain was rung up on the first act of the reason why girls leave their homes.

The hall will seat five or six hundred people, with movable, raised seats in the center, and three rows of benches down two sides. The stage is of necessity small, so that the hero rushing at the villain need take but one glide and there he is. The room is well lighted. The dressing rooms of the players are the old dance hall cloak rooms in the rear of the room, upstairs. The actors get to the stage by means of a closed passageway, just under the roof. Other changes will be made, such as raising the roof above the stage to allow of a taller drop.

Gilbertson's orchestra furnished music last evening. The building is owned by O. H. Hale, and the theatre is managed by W. W. LaPoint.

"BOTANICAL EVENING."

One of the Social Events of Season Given by Athena Club.

One of the pleasant social events of the season was the "Botanical evening" held by the Athena club at the home of Mrs. W. A. Lebourveau last evening with "Over the Teacups" club as their guests. The rooms were very prettily decorated for the occasion, the prevailing colors being red and green. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. M. M. Gordon and Mrs. Richard Bradley which were enjoyed by all. Prof. Carol H. White gave a very interesting and instructive talk on Botany and exhibited many fine specimens of Vermont flowers. Besides these specimens the club was fortunate in securing a large number of specimens of flowers that grew in Germany.

Light refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served after which souvenir booklets of autumn leaves were presented and a copy of Whittier's poems presented Mr. White.

ENTERTAINED TEACUPS CLUB.

Were Guests of Mrs. M. T. Page in Afternoon, and Athena Club in Evening.

Mrs. M. T. Page yesterday afternoon entertained the Teacups club and also the Tuesday afternoon whist club at her home. After two hours of pleasure at whist, Mrs. Page served, at 5 o'clock, a most beautiful banquet.

In the evening the Athena club entertained the Teacups club to an illustrated botanical lecture given by Prof. White at the home of Mrs. Lebourveau on Washington street. The lecture was very enjoyable and will be long remembered by the club as a red letter day. The members of the Teacups club feel that they are under great obligations to the Athena.

IS NAMED LIBERTY ST.

Aldermen Vote to Change Name Dewey Without Debate

SEMINARY STREET AGAIN

Hale's Theatre Opened Without a License and Aldermen Refer Violation of City Ordinance to the City Attorney—Other Matters.

It is Liberty street now, and one matter of contention is disposed of. Alderman Milne made a touching appeal to the city council at its meeting last evening, saying he was being called up at all hours, night and morning, over the renaming of Dewey and Carleton streets, that much was being written about the question of names that wasn't true, and he hoped the board would settle the question without further delay. He moved that the streets be renamed Liberty street, and without discussion the council voted 5 to 2 that it be Liberty street.

Seminary street came in for some further consideration. S. H. Jackson as attorney for J. D. Ossola thought the latter should be paid the expense he had been to in moving his house back from the street on Seminary street, in view of the agreement that had been arrived at between the council and Mr. Ossola. His bill for this was $165. Alderman McKenzie stated that a hearing was to be held Nov. 4 on a resurvey and relocation of the street, and that damages, if any, would be awarded to Mr. Ossola. If he was not then satisfied with the street commissioners' findings, he could appeal. The matter was put over until after the meeting.

It was voted the city engineer be instructed to secure a plan that is reported to be in the possession of Jerry Hutchinson of Williamstown and which relates to Brook and Seminary streets, and also that he be given definite instructions to thoroughly examine all the deeds of the property on the easterly and westerly sides of Seminary street, and endeavor to establish the lines thereon before the hearing on Nov. 4th.

Hale's Theatre.

Alderman McKenzie reported that O. H. Hale was opening up a theatre on Pearl street without a license, and that the matter demanded attention.

It was further stated that the location of the place over an auction room filled with all kinds of inflammable material, made the place an extremely hazardous one. After some further discussion and looking up of the penalties for such a violation of the city ordinances, it was voted to refer the matter to the city attorney and license committee with authority to prosecute if they thought best.

O. H. Hale asked for two building permits, one to erect a one-story building 30x30 feet, at the easterly end of the Pavilion, in which it was proposed to store seats, and the other to roof in the open space at the rear of the Vermont Fruit Co.'s store. The applications were referred to the building inspector and fire committee to investigate and report back.

Various Street Matters.

The committee on streets reported on street signs not already supplied and placed, naming those missing and needed. The report was accepted and the signs will be ordered.

The same committee reported numbers for Humboldt street, which were accepted and adopted.

This committee, with the city engineer, reported on proposed new lines for Berlin street from North Main to the bridge over the river. The committee had met Mr. Stanyan representing A. F. Sortwell and talked the matter over. The railroad desired to straighten the street lines, giving the land for so doing, but its plan provided for only a two-road street, while the last meeting of the board of aldermen wanted a two and a half road street. The committee made no recommendations, but wanted instructions from the council. When the aldermen had adjourned and Mayor Barclay called them together in a council meeting the matter was referred to the street committee and engineering department to investigate and report on what the city already owns as a street.

F. E. Perrin reported that granite bounds had been placed on Upland avenue ready for setting and that he was ready to do what else was required of him to make the street acceptable to the city. It was voted to accept his offer of $10 for placing the posts. It was also voted the water superintendent be instructed to extend the city water mains on said street.

The question of manufacturers along the river bank and Burnham street encroaching on the city's right of way was referred to the city attorney and street committee to investigate and report.

It was voted the city engineer bring in plans for curbing corners for intersecting streets.

It was reported P. D. Molla is building a block on Berlin street which extends into the street. The matter was referred to the city engineer to survey and report on.

A permit was granted the Masons to hang an electric sign in front of the Bolster block during the week of their fair.

Building Inspector Martin Riley recommended a permit be granted to Carlo Merlo to erect a woodshed, and it was so voted.
